Under Construction:
Building a Paragraph with a Bubble Map
What is a paragraph?

A paragraph is a group of sentences about one topic.
What is a paragraph?

A paragraph has 3 parts.

Topic Sentence
A strong, clear sentence that tells what your paragraph will be about.

Details
2 or 3 sentences that give more information about your topic.

Closing Sentence
A strong sentence at the end of your paragraph that restates your topic.
How do I build a paragraph?

We can build a paragraph like we build a hamburger.

What are the parts of a hamburger?
Just like a hamburger, a good paragraph needs something to hold it together.
Just like a hamburger, a good paragraph needs good details to make a good filling.
What does a paragraph need?

A paragraph has 3 parts.

Topic Sentence
A strong, clear sentence that tells what your paragraph will be about.

Details
2 or 3 sentences that give more information about your topic.

Closing Sentence
A strong sentence at the end of your paragraph that restates your topic.
Let’s look at an example.

Animals at the Zoo

Tigers and elephants are two animals I saw at the zoo. The tigers are orange with black stripes. The elephants are gray and have big ears. I saw a lot of animals at the zoo, but tigers and elephants were my favorite.

Can you find the 3 parts of the paragraph in the example? Look for the topic sentence, the details, and the closing statement.
Tigers and elephants are two animals I saw at the zoo.
The tigers are orange with black stripes.
The elephants are gray with big ears.
Closing Sentence
Animals at the Zoo

Tigers and elephants are two animals I saw at the zoo. The tigers are orange with black stripes. The elephants are gray with big ears. I saw a lot of animals at the zoo, but the tigers and elephants were my favorites.